Taranaki Surf Championships

Here are the teams at the Taranaki Surf Life-saving Championships held recently at Fitzroy beach. The weather for the events, which lasted two days, was ideal, with a moderate surf running. Some very good performances were witnessed by the rather disappointing crowd of spectators.

OUR COVER

BACK COVER

The night of the Festival when Miss Brooklands was presented with her trophies was a night to remember. The beauty of this natural spectacle was enhanced by the generous use of coloured lighting to the best effect seen yet.

N.P.-Inglewood Reconstruction

Almost the last piece of the N.P.-Inglewood highway to be straightened out is getting towards the completed stage. This photograph graphically illustrates the elimination of a bad bend about a mile south of Egmont Village. The newly-formed road runs straight, while the old road does the longer journey around the hillside. When completed, this highway will be one of the best in the province.

Post-Primary School Swim Championships

Each year many records are broken, and this year was no exception. We wonder where this is going to end with records tumbling one after another. Such is the case in the annual post-primary school swimming championships, held this year at the NPBHS baths. Here we reproduce some of the champions.

N.Z. LEANDER TROPHY RACES AT NEW PLYMOUTH

Part of the celebrations for the 25th jubilee of the New Plymouth Yacht Club was the running of the Leander Trophy races. This was a New Zealand championship which attracted yachts from all parts of the country. These "R" class boats were a colourful sight off Ngamotu beach as they raced for the national honours. Over 60 yachts took part in this series of races, held in ideal conditions.

Exciting Pairs Final

The final of the Taranaki women's open pairs tournament proved to be one of the best seen in the province yet. So even was the struggle that the last bowl of the game could have spelled victory for the vanquished. Mesdames Molly Taylor (skip) and Rene Phipps (Waiwaka) won this great battle against Mesdames Sylvia Charteris (skip) and Myrtle Trigger (Inglewood) on the Riverside green before a gallery of about 150 people.

Dirt Tracker Off To U.K. Speedways

Popular speedway dirt tracker, Graham Coombes, has ridden his last race at Waiwakaiho speedway for at least this season. Graham has now left for the U.K. where he will ride on the track there. We have no doubt that his presence there will be felt, as Graham is one of the best dirt trackers in New Zealand. The club presented him with a helmet when he left, inscribed with a kiwi and the name New Plymouth. We know Graham will put that name on the car over in the old country. Below, left: Graham in his new helmet, and right, in action on the track.

"Peter Pan" a Success

Perhaps the most successful story produced at the Festival of the Pines was the recent "Peter Pan" production which attracted about 12000 people on the two nights it played. The play, though rather short, was ideally suited to the setting at the Bowl, and producer Brian Clark made full use of this. With a real pirate ship, island on the shore, and a working crocodile, it was a delight to most children, and a joy to the older folk who remembered the story.

Full marks must go to the enthusiastic team of back-stage helpers for making this the success it was. We have always thought that the Bowl lends itself to such productions, and as an idea perhaps the Trust would think over staging a good musical next year. One in particular would, we think, be a hit...."Show Boat". What better setting than the Bowl for such a production?

Excitement ran high in "Peter Pan", particularly when the sword-fighting started on the pirate ship. Loud cheers from the children greeted the victory of Peter Pan over Captain Hook.

Speedboat Regatta at Waitara

The North Taranaki Power Boat Club's major regatta was recently held on the Waitara River with nine local entries and eleven from outside the province. Racing was of a very high order, with some really fast boats taking part. Above: Although the crowd was small, it was fortunate to see some particularly exciting racing. Below: Three boats race nose-to-stern round the bottom buoy.

DISASTROUS FLOODS AFTER DRY SPELL

February promised to be one of the driest on record, but proved to be the wettest when heavy rain fell over the province late in the month, causing very heavy flooding in the Uruti and the Whangamomana areas. At Uruti, floodwaters flowed across the main road north, covering paddocks and marooning stock. Farm houses were cut off for a few days when large slips blocked roads.

Above: Cattle were marooned and waded through the flood waters to find food. Below: Sheep were isolated on small islands like this until the flood waters subsided. Bottom: Water flowed over the main road north and was considered serious at one time, until the rain stopped and the situation eased.

Sea of Logs on Waitara River

After the heavy rain experienced in Taranaki recently, tons and tons of logs and debris came down the Waitara River. So much collected in the mouth on the high tide, that the debris almost reached right across the river. One old resident of Waitara said that it was the first time that this had happened in fifty years. With the river precariously near to the top of the banks at high tide, the cessation of rain saved the situation. Above: Looking toward the mouth, there was little clear water as the tide came in. Below: At the boat moorings at the look-out, masses of driftwood floated in the area. In this picture an idea is obtained of the height of the water, not many inches from the flooding point.

Aftermath of the recent heavy flooding in Taranaki was the depositing of logs by the ton on all the beaches along the coast. Pictured above is the mass of driftwood on East End beach. A lot of this has been removed by residents for firewood. How about some organisation cutting this up and distributing it to the town's old folk? Two birds could be killed with one stone.

Accident in Breakwater Road

Above: Scene of a recent accident in Breakwater Road, when a Morris 1000 collided with a power pole. The driver received head injuries, which were not serious, and was attended on the spot by passers-by and an officer of the Transport Department. The power pole was wrecked, as can be seen in the photograph.

Spotlight on Youth at the Bowl

Part of this year's Festival of the Pines was devoted to the talents of youth of the district. Choirs and instrumental groups from many schools in the area performed to the delight of the audience. The performers, though not of a professional calibre, were nevertheless enjoyed and presented their items with a zest that spelled success for the idea of this youth programme.

Above: No festival of youth would have been complete without the Maori group, under the direction of Buster Walden.

Taranaki Surf Champs

The recent Taranaki Surf Life-Saving champs held at Fitzroy beach were conducted in two days of beautiful weather. Competition was keen, particularly in the ladies' events, and some good performances were witnessed by the disappointingly small crowd assembled for the occasion.

Top: Something new in surf champs was the surf board race. These boards are becoming increasingly popular on Taranaki beaches, and, we feel, will become part of the club equipment, in the light of their ability to reach and rescue far quicker than the swimmer. ### FLANNAGAN CUP RACE

The wharf beach was so full of driftwood that the start and finish of the Flannagan Cup event was held on Ngamotu beach. The event attracted thousands to the port area. Forty-four swimmers took part in this popular event.

Above: Surf club boats and pleasure craft were on hand in case of sharks.

Below: R.Johns (Fitzroy) was assisted from the water after an attack of cramp.

Ngamotu beach was jammed for the 1964 Flannagan Cup event, and officials had a hard job to keep the crowds back. Even a well-placed rope couldn't do the job, and this is a pity, because the work of officials is made much harder when they have no room to move, and more people have a better view if everybody stands back.

SAILORS BEWARE!

Below: While photographing the Flannagan Cup event, our attention was drawn to these three bobs in a dinghy, riding the water with less than two inches of freeboard. Some people were concerned in case their frail craft should founder. We certainly hoped they could all swim!

Opunake Catholic Church Demolished

Opunake's Catholic Church, Our Lady, Star of the Sea, is now a heap of rubble. This 40 - year - old church needed extensive renovations, and it proved more economic to build a new church on the site. The new church will be in brick and will hold over 400 people.

Right: The last remaining wall is ready for toppling.

Girls High School Swimming Sports

Following a postponement, the Girls' High School swimming sports were held in warm sunny weather. The sports seem to have a picnic atmosphere about them with the novelty events, and always there is a good crowd of parents to watch their daughters perform. Above: The terraces were filled for this popular occasion. Below, left: Competitor in the senior diving event is in perfect line as she enters the water. Below, right: Lunch time provided the pupils with a bit of relaxing in the sun.

NOVELTY EVENTS AT SWIM SPORTS

TARANAKI MARCHING CHAMPS

Twenty-seven teams from as far afield as Hutt Valley and Christchurch contested the recent Taranaki Marching Championships at Victoria Park, Stratford. Rain during the day didn't help things, but had no effect on the quality of the marching, which was higher this year than for many years past.
