Piebald Lamb

Pretty things, lambs, aren't they? But when they are piebald, they are all the more attractive. This wee fellow must have known he was to be born on the New Plymouth Boys' High School farm, as he has two of the school's colours. This type of colouring is considered very rare, and this particular fellow has caused quite a stir in the area, so much so, that he is guarded day and night. Already someone has tried to make off with him. Jill Barclay, holding the lamb, thinks him just wonderful.

OUR COVER

Sally Jane, year-old-daughter of Mr and Mrs Rex Phillips, seems to be appealing for help as her pet kitten gets onto the high chair to help itself to some of Sally's dinner. Poor Sally lost her dinner, but didn't seem to mind, as she thinks a lot of her pure white kitten friend.

BACK COVER:

There's no skiting about these flowers, but we thought that the gardening fraternity among our readers would like to have a yardstick to use when cultivating their lilies. These fine specimens were grown by Mrs N.M.McArtney of Lemon Street, New Plymouth, last summer. The colour and size appealed to us, and the perfume was almost overpowering. Mrs McArtney tells us that this year's blooms will be bigger and better.

TREE PLANTING CEREMONY:

Members of the Rugby Park Committee are doing a tremendous job in beautifying the park. On a recent Sunday morning, the surrounds of the park were a hive of industry as V.I.P.'s and others planted hundreds of trees and shrubs. Our picture shows Alan Holt planting a tree on behalf of the M.P. for New Plymouth, Mr E.P. Aderman, whilst Ky Thomson sees that the tree is put in properly.

All Blacks Return

Home again after a four-month tour of South Africa, Taranaki's All Blacks looked remarkably bronzed and fit. They were greeted at the airport by their families and friends. Kevin Briscoe came home to a daughter that he hadn't seen before, and is shown admiring his first-born in the picture above, left.

DART TEAM FOR TOUR.

Below: These Taranaki dart players are now on a tour of the South Island. The men who represent the North Island are from left, B.Christensen, L.Irving, V.C.Walsh and North Island selector J.K.Thomas. The woman, Mrs E.Jorgensen, is the North Island singles champion, and goes to Riverton to contest the New Zealand Championship.

The bridesmaids were Jill Fuller, a cousin of the bride, Urenui, and Josephine Commerford of Waitara. The best man was the brother of the groom, Bill Montgomery. The flowergirls were Kay Dunbar, Urenui, and Beth Wilson, Waitara. The future home of the couple will be Waitara.

Below: MacKENZIE-GOBLE. At St. Andrew's Anglican Church, Inglewood, Marie Dawn, only daughter of Mrs and the late Mr H.Goble, Kaimiro, to James Arthur, only son of Mr and Mrs J.F.MacKenzie, Inglewood. The bridesmaids were Annette Gibson, New Plymouth and Carol Jennings, New Plymouth. The best man was Leslie Brown, Inglewood, and the groomsman was Don Fredrikson, Inglewood. The flowergirl was Teresa Mannix, Waitara. The future home of the bride and groom will be Bristol Road, Inglewood.

Fourth-seeded player Richard Purser (NP), beat the top seed, O. Clegg, to win the Taranaki A grade singles championship. Not only did he win that, but he also won the men's doubles and the mixed doubles.

The final of the A grade singles was as expected, one of the best games seen for a long time.

The ladies' singles winner was Jilda Tompkins, who with Margaret Moorhead also won the ladies' doubles.

High Fashion at Stratford

Through the efforts of a Stratford retailer, Sawyer's Fashions Ltd., who organised a very interesting fashion show, a cheque for £125 was handed to Mrs A.W.White, president of the Stratford branch of the Plunket Society. The night was both cold and wet, but despite this, over 400 women attended what surely was one of the best fashion shows ever held at the Memorial Hall. The parade of mannequins was led by Marlene Allen (Miss Auckland), Mrs Alla Reed and Miss Fay Booker, all from Auckland. Compere for this sparkling show was Mrs Olga Sawyer, who had no need to refer to notes during the whole of the show.

Motor Cycle Scramble

For the first event of the season, the NTMCC used the quarry at Okato for a scramble which proved highly successful from the spectators' point of view, but a bit hard on the machines and riders. More than one rider could have used a periscope in the water splash. Nevertheless, both riders and spectators enjoyed the afternoon's sport.

Hey mate! You're going the wrong way!

Bargain Day in New Plymouth

Friday the second of September was Bargain Day in New Plymouth. First there was the huge mart, held in the new Memorial Hall, and organised by the N.P. Jaycees. Crowds flocked into the hall all day, and wonderful business was done by all the stallholders. Each stall retained their own profits from the market. In all £1200 was earned by 18 organisations during the day.

We would like to stress here, that the local Jaycees did a mammoth job in preparing the hall, AND in cleaning the place up after this well-supported market day.

Above: The hall was packed like this from 9am until the doors closed at 8pm.

Right: The lift helped to carry the thousands of bargain-hunters up and down to the street.

Right: Three New Plymouth children who spent a long time during their holidays chasing the elusive whitebait at the mouth of the Henui stream. They are Murray Boulter, Peter Saunders and Rex Stewart.

Below: Mrs P. Cavey of Okato sent us this picture of her family, all of whom are serving in the Boys' Brigade or the Girl Guides. They are, from left: Peter, a private, Captain Joyce, Lance-corporal Mervyn, Warrant Officer Leslie and Brian, a private. A fine record of service to the church and their organisations by a very fine family.

£450 Raised for Crippled Children

A sum in the region of £450 will be handed to the Crippled Children Society, through the efforts of the Press, Police and Transport departments, in their annual Grundy Cup match at Rugby Park. The weather, by way of a change, put on its best behaviour, and over 6000 people turned up to see some fun and frolics with three games of football added for good measure. We take off our hats, despite the woodpeckers, to this very hard-working committee, ably led by Graham Coddington, in doing such a fine public-spirited action for the benefit of a very deserving cause.

Chairman of the committee Graham Coddington, (the scowl isn't permanent) and the one and only Bob Scott, who demonstrated his old wizardry with the football.

Ouch! Those Girls Play Hard!

When the girls above came down to play rugby, they walked down like real ladies, but once on the paddock, they got stuck in with everything they had. Not exactly rough play, but robust and hard. It was even noticeable that the referee, Roy Johns, winced each time the girls went in to tackle.

The perfect half back took all the time in the world to get the ball out to her backs.

Round the neck or legs, it was all the same to most of them

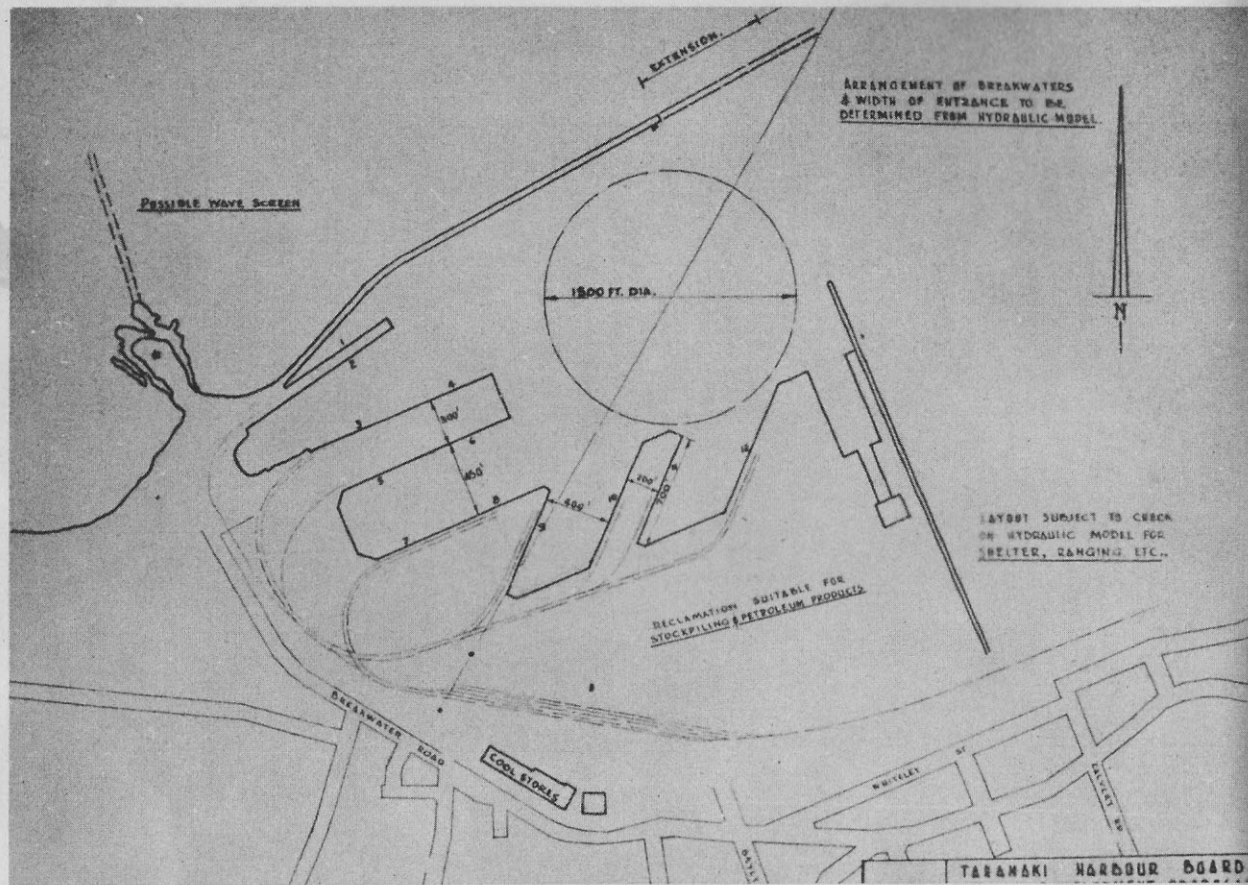

Above: Bob Scott, famous All-Black full-back presents the Dixon Shield to the captain of the Cop-Its, Jessie Sanger, for their victory against the Press-Ons.

Above, right: No quarter was asked or given in this hard-fought women's rugby game. Referee Roy Johns, in the background, had complete control.

Right: Jessie Sanger wasn't exactly tackled, but rather was she pushed off the ball. The poor girl suffered a broken toe during the game. We think perhaps, she did this in trying to convert.

Below: We feel rather reluctant to say much about the Police v. Press game, in case we get a ticket of some sort. But the start of the game saw both teams wielding truncheons at each other, and referee Bob Scott stood wisely in the background.

Goodbye to all This... New Harbour Board Plan

Above: This is the suggested plan for the development of the Harbour at Port Taranaki. This plan, which was shown to the Harbour Board recently, may not be adopted. The scheme provides for five wharves, providing 12 berths, the extension of the present breakwater by 800ft. and the erection of a further breakwater from the end of Calvert road. The port work envisaged is eastward, and would mean that Ngamotu beach (below) would be completely requisitioned, with a lot of reclamation leading to the new wharves and providing storage space and land for railway tracks behind the beach. A widened Newton King wharf is included in this plan. The chairman of the Harbour Board, Mr Blyde, stressed that this was not a concrete plan, but a scheme to be considered. With six berths at the port at present, the scheme provides for doubling of that number.

Graduate Nurses and Overseas Teachers

Below: Six secondary school teachers recently arrived in New Plymouth from the United Kingdom to take up appointments at the New Plymouth Boys' and Girls' High Schools. They were welcomed by the chairman of the High School Board, Mr L.M.Moss (right), and representatives of both schools. The teachers are from left, Mr and Mrs A.R.Field, Miss P.Tate, Miss P.T.Meyler, Mr and Mrs C.Clancy and Mr J.H.Bayfield. They have come to this country under a sponsored scheme by the New Zealand Government.

Y.W.C.A. Stay at Home Camp

The August holidays Stay Home Camp, organised by the YWCA, was a huge success, with over 200 girls taking part. They were entertained during their holidays by a variety of diversionary hobbies.

Under the guidance of YWCA ladies, these young girls enjoyed their holidays to the full, being taught to do some very useful things.

At the conclusion of the camp, the children themselves produced a concert, with remarkably high talent content.

Above: The audience, composed of the girls and their mothers, who came along to enjoy this most popular item of their holiday camp.

Right: Shirley Darby and Heather Eley danced some folk dances to the delight of the audience.

Married

Maurice Bridgeman of Waitara was the page boy. The future home of the couple will be Waitara.

Left: NEWELL-TELFER. At St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, New Plymouth, Barbara Katharine, youngest daughter of Mr and Mrs H. Telfer, Timaru, to Vernon Isaac, second son of Mr and Mrs D.R. Newell, New Plymouth. The bridesmaid was Ann Bartlett, and the best man was Harry Sharman. The future home of the couple will be New Plymouth.

Hawera "Comps"

A marked improvement in some classes in both instrumental and vocal sections was a feature of the final day of the competitions held during the school holidays at Hawera.

Our photographer was back stage on the last night and was impressed with the talent of the performers. The thing that appears to be happening is that the competitions are becoming far more varied than they used to. This adds to the attraction, and was evidenced at the final concert, when a programme of infinite variety was seen.

Right: Roslyn Fake, Margaret Hopkins, Katherine O'Shea, Carol McCracken and Dalewyn Wells all of Hawera gave a polished display in the Open Tap troupe class.

WINNING COMPETITORS

Winners at the final concert in the Memorial Theatre provided entertainment of a very high order for the packed house who witnessed this prize-giving evening.

WORM'S EYE VIEW

Above: So much interest was taken and there was so little viewing space backstage that any vantage point was taken up. Even the space under the grand piano came in handy. It was a worm's eye view, but nevertheless an uninterrupted one.

Top-dressers Busy

Three children, Rosemary Parker, Patsy Jamieson and Michael Bennett bring the pony to see the operations of pilot Don Erceg and loader Bill Beal.

With the improvement in the weather lately, Rural Aviation pilots have been as busy as bees buzzing around the skies of Taranaki spreading manure. With a load of about five hundredweight every few minutes, they worked from daylight till dark on every available day, providing the weather and wind were right. The pictures on this page were taken on the Parker Brothers property on Kent Road. Though not new to the children of the district, the arrival of the top-dressers always provides a thrill for them.

Salute to Spring

A flower show with a difference was the recent event staged by the New Plymouth Horticultural Society for their 117th annual spring show. It was a show of colour—with a difference. The colour was provided by the thousands of spring blooms, plus 14 novel courts, gardens, trade exhibits and special exhibits in this Floral Interlude.

Above: One of the stands that created plenty of interest was that run by two women, who were showing the potter's art. At the wheel is Miss L.M. Mills.

Beautification at Rugby Park

There's no doubt about it, Rugby Park will be one of the best parks in the Dominion somewhere in the future, if the members of the park committee have anything to do with it.

Recently they planted hundreds of trees and shrubs in an effort to beautify the place. The effect, in about 10 years' time, will be a fine playing area, surrounded by many native trees and flowering shrubs. The interest shown in the planting was such that supporters and friends attended in good numbers to help to plant these trees. Many old stalwarts of the rugby world were present to do their part.

Right: The Hon. Robert Masters, with his grandsons Derek and Mark Masters, plants a young and beautiful magnolia tree.

Auditions for Inglewood Show

The Inglewood Dramatic Society seem all set for a successful season. They have secured the services of one of New Zealand's leading producers, Miss Nola Miller of Wellington, and have chosen a very delightful play, "The Tea House of the August Moon", in which Marlon Brando starred in the film.

We went to Inglewood for the auditions, and found that there is no lack of talent in this small Taranaki town. If enthusiasm is a yardstick, then the producer is going to find it hard to decide the casting.

Producer Nola Miller tries Gordon Ashworth, Paul and Betty Lambert and Yvonne Brown in a scene from the play.

Taranaki Trounces Wanganui

Seldom have we seen such domination in the line-outs, as was witnessed in this game against Wanganui. Credit must surely go to 6ft. 5in. A. Davies, who, playing his second representative match of the season, was complete master of the line-outs, very ably supported by A.J. Mackie. Another thrill of the game was the return of All-Black Kevin Briscoe, who, despite the strenuous South African tour, played with much more vigour than ever.
