Matron of honour was Pam Wray, NP, and the bridesmaids were Joan Hannon, NP; and Dianne Jamieson, Wellington. Best man was Warren Baird, brother of the groom, NP, and the groomsmen were Gary Carter and Errol Tuffery, both NP. Future home, New Plymouth.

Below: SMITH-RUSS. At the Church of the Ascension, Auckland, Cynthia, second daughter of Mr and Mrs W. A. Russ, Auckland, to Wayne, third son of Mr N. Smith, Inglewood. The bridesmaids were Diane O'Neil, Stratford, Diane Jury, Stratford, and Pamela Russ, sister of the bride, Auckland. Best man was Raymond Skett, Auckland, and the groomsmen were David Atkinson, Auckland, and Peter Smith, brother of the groom, Inglewood. Future home, Stratford.

Gruelling Amateur Race

New Plymouth riders swept the board in the recent Taranaki championship. The seniors raced over a 65-mile course which finished at the Greatest Show on Earth at Inglewood. At right: Alister Nelson, president of the Greatest Show committee, presents the trophy to the winner, Peter Cox. In the centre is Ross Atkinson, NP, who was second and Nev Rowlands who gained third place. Below, left: The senior men started at Egmont Village. Commissioner at Guide Rally

Twelve hundred Guides and Brownies from all over the province recently invaded the NP Racecourse for their annual rally. It was a great day for the girls, as the NZ Chief Commissioner, Mrs W.G. Turnbull, Wellington, was the guest of honour for the day. Following the official welcome the Guides and Brownies split up into small groups and enjoyed a variety of activities.

Above: Prior to the arrival of the Chief Commissioner, Mr I. Menzies led the girls in a spot of practice in the songs they were to sing for their chief. Below: Chief Commissioner Mrs Turnbull stops to talk to a group of Brownies, where she had a ready word and smile for them all.

Above: Each group of Guides enclosed a pack of Brownies, and at the command of these three nymphs the Brownies surged forward with their paper flowers, below, to the base of the official dais. Bottom: Guide leaders formed a circle round the official party, which included the Chief Commissioner, Mrs Turnbull, and the Mayor and Mayoress of NP, Mr and Mrs A. G. Honnor.

Last Rep Soccer Game

Weariness at the end of a hectic season was probably the cause of a poor showing against Masterton Athletic, a Wairarapa club team, in the final rep soccer game of the season at Western Park. At no time did the quality of play rise above club level and a tame draw resulted. Soccer needs a shot in the arm in this province to bring it back to the days when we could hold our own with almost any province. Could be that the lads have had a lot of tough games this season. Pictures here are of this game.

Our Trolley Buses Have Gone

Bunting and brass bands signified the passing of New Plymouth's trolley buses. It was a rather sad and nostalgic day for people interested in the city's transport, as these old buses after a long and useful life are to repose in the Wellington Transport Museum. These buses have served the community well for the past 17 years, travelled well over a million miles, and carried millions of people. In a sense we are sorry to see them go, as they have been replaced by diesel buses which bring smells and noise....but such is progress. Above: Parade of buses, led by the trolleys and the NP City Band. Below: Many were on the buses for their last ride, and free at that. Bottom: There was a small crowd to bid farewell to these three old trolley buses.

Above: Banner on the front of one of the retiring trolley buses sums up their future. Of all things to happen on their last journey, the poles had to jump off the wires as if in protest at leaving the city. After a bit of friendly laughter, they were replaced, below, and at right, by willing helpers. Bottom, right: In one of the buses was a series of old photographs of the transport of the city in bygone days which provided a lot of interest for the public.

After the official handing over of the trolley buses, men from the Wellington Transport Museum set to work dismantling the overhead wires. It wasn't a kind weekend weatherwise for the job, but by the Monday afternoon nothing much remained to remind us of trolley buses. In all, over fifty volunteers from Wellington came to the city for this job which they did most efficiently without any fuss or bother and with no hindrance to other road users. For this they must be congratulated.

Above: Two of the Wellington men cut the wires after they had been freed from overhead. Right: The gangs were a hard-working lot as they sped round the city to dismantle the overhead wiring. Below: This was the extent of the crowd at the farewell function when the trolley buses were officially handed over.

TARANAKI DART PRESENTATIONS

End of season social and presentations was recently held at the Queen's Hall for the Taranaki Darts Association. Patron Pat Lyle presented the trophies. Animal Week Church Parade

Animal lovers in Taranaki certainly upheld the World Animal Week. They organised shows, parades and a church service at the Waiwakaiho show-grounds to which people took their pets. This was very much of a novelty, and we can only assume that the favoured pets are a step closer to heaven through having taken part, which is a comforting thought for animal lovers with this degree of sincerity.

Above: Part of the rather small congregation at the church service. Right: The choir from the Rangitea Maori Girls' Hostel provided the lead in singing, and they were a pleasure to listen to. Below: At the conclusion of the service, a flock of pigeons was released.

At the animal week church service, we took our telephoto lens along and got these studies of the love that exists between owner and animal. Above: Not exactly an armful, but a friend, to say the least. Below: A pat on the head always evokes a wag of the tail. Above, right: Some lucky children have got parents and pets to share their love with. Below, right: This one is not only a friend, but a wonderful guardian too.

Cross Country Championships

Hats off to the Waitara High school for the successful running of the Taranaki post primary cross country championships. The whole thing ran smoothly, with tiptop organisation. The only thing that broke down was the loud speaker system, but this did not impair the running of the champs. The junior event got off on time, and our photograph above shows the field under way at the start. Right: The Waitara High School had plenty of timekeepers. Here are four of them—Barbara Hide, Marie Bullot, Kay Dunbar and Joy Stadden. Below, left: Winner of the junior event was Kevin Monaghan, Francis Douglas College. Centre: Second man home was Robert Murfitt, Hawera THS. Right: Third home was Bryan Crocker, NPBHS.

The intermediate race at the Taranaki post primary cross country champs was a little longer course than that for the juniors. Top: The large field of forty runners set out from the Waitara High School grounds. Above, left: The winner of the intermediate event was Noel Karalus, Francis Douglas College. Centre: The second man home was Mervyn Lowe, Opunake High school. Above, right: Third was William Death, Stratford High School. Right: At the finish, most welcomed the chance of a sit or a rest on the cool grass.

Runners -
we need you!

"Photo News" is in need of more delivery boys or girls. The job is interesting, and the pay good if you are prepared to work. If you want a job as a "Photo News" runner then come in and see us, or give a ring at 6101, or after hours, 88712, and we'll tell you more about it.

Rough Wrestling

With a fall within the first minute of the bout, and some really tough tactics, the bout between Lofty O'Halloran and Australia's Frank Marriot proved a real crowd-pleaser. The fight finished on the same note as it started, with a fall by Lofty to make him the winner by two falls to one. Above, left: Referee Bill Beale warns Frank about hair pulling. Above: Lofty got Frank down and gave him a few bumps. Below, left: The end of the bout, with Frank hopelessly tied up in the ropes, and finishing up on the floor, below, out, while Bill Beale counts the fatal number for a win to Lofty.

100-Mile Amateur Mountain Race

Never before has this race rated such a star-studded field of riders. It was considered something of an Olympic trial, and the country's top cyclists battled their way round the 97-mile course in weather that was nothing short of ideal. Above: The race aroused considerable interest locally, as our picture shows. The start was a crowded affair with four or five hundred people to see the cyclists away on their long journey. Right: Miss Brooklands, 1967, Nan Taylor, was on hand to start the race, and hand out free slabs of chocolate to each of the 98 riders. Here she gives a slab to New Plymouth's John Dean. Below: Because of the surge of the crowd, the riders had to start in almost Indian file. Here, the scratch bunch get under way.

ARMY EXERCISES

Flashes, bangs and smoke bombs drifted over the peaceful countryside of Upper Carrington Road recently when a company of 115 territorials assisted by regular force engineers from Linton staged some mock warfare. To make things as realistic as possible, there were snipers, trip mines, the lot, as the advancing army moved across the peaceful Taranaki countryside. Above: The army de-buses for the exercise. Below: Infantry sweeps across a cow paddock. Bottom: Seemed that there were soldiers everywhere.

"Photo News" is looking for a photographer-journalist, male or female, who wants to make a career in this field. These are the qualifications. Must be clean and tidy, have some photographic experience, even if only amateur, be able to type and have a good educational background. The job is interesting if you like meeting people and moving around, and will pay a good salary to the right person. There's no age limit for the situation. Written applications only, please, to the Editor, P.O. Box 427, New Plymouth.

FIFTEENTH BIRTHDAY

There was a very full programme, starting with a tea and finishing with a demonstration, for the fifteenth birthday celebrations of the Okato company of the Boys' Brigade. The company, which is one of the strongest in Taranaki can boast a very high membership, due, we think, to good leadership and organisation. NZ Secretary of the Boys' Brigade Mr Alf Dornan was present for the celebrations. Above: Inspection by Mr Dornan. Below: Every nook and cranny was inspected. Above, right: Smart chaps at Okato. Right: A friendly word works wonders for the boys. Below, right: Airborne gymnast at the evening display.

Above: Mr Dornan had a ready smile and kind words for the boys of the Life Boys. This section of the brigade is strongest, which augurs well for the future of the movement in Okato. Right: The bobs underneath don't seem to be worried as one of their members of the gymnast team flies overhead. Below: A drill display by part of the company was very good, and received generous applause.

OAKURA YOUNG FARMERS CABARET. We are prepared to bet there were a few latecomers at the cow shed on the morning following the Oakura Young Farmers' cabaret held recently. From our photographer's point of view, it was a case of really enjoying oneself to the full. The Country Girls even provided entertainment with their Can Can group, and what crowd pleasers they were too! How about a ticket for next year, Mr secretary?

ABOUT PEOPLE

Above: Taranaki Women's Bowling Centre president, Mrs V.Reid, performs the pleasant task of pinning a gold star on Mrs Jean Gillespie, NP. Jean won the gold star for five centre titles of champion of champions. She has also been NZ singles champion. Jean is only the second Taranaki player to be so honoured. Below: A group of family and friends helped Dianne Corbett enjoy her 21st birthday recently at the Devon Lodge. From left, back row, Wayne Martin, Stephen Tooley, Marsh Kibby, Peri Foreman, Peter Wisniewski and Calvin Brett; front row, Gordon Bond, Lex Casperson, Clive Eriwhata, Douglas Hannan and Peter Whitwell.

New Breakwater

Our photograph shows the new northern breakwater, fast taking shape and pushing steadily out to meet the old breakwater. The huge stockpile of rocks can be seen at the base of the new structure, which has recently had a concrete capping. Wonder if this will be a better fishing possie than the old breakwater?

MOTORING WITH ROBBIE

A HANDY WINDSCREEN SCRAPER may lie right in your pocket - it's your comb. The smooth edge along the back of a plastic or hard-rubber comb will remove a light coating of ice or frost quickly without scratching the windscreen.

GARNISHING OF REFLECTIVE TAPE on the front of a car can be left to the jalopy owners. However, it can be handy if it's fastened to inconspicuous places so that its warning can be flashed to other motorists - only when the bonnet or boot lid is raised.

HANDY HINT

When your car has to be left standing for long periods it is better to chock the wheels rather than to apply the hand brake, otherwise the hand brake cable tends to stretch.

Left: RUSTPROOF TAILPIPE EXTENSIONS that will outlast commercial extensions can be made from bathroom drainpipe. Get some chromed brass or copper pipe that will fit snugly and drive it into, or over, the tailpipe with a soft hammer.

Left: THIS MASK will keep paint off the tyres when you spray or touch up the wheels. Cut a carton as shown and stand it beside the wheel. Make a ring of cardboard and slide it through the hole until it bears firmly against the rim. The mask can be used over and over again.

Right: ANCHOR your test meter firmly in place with suction cups to prevent vibration from knocking it to the ground. You can buy the rubber cups with nuts molded in them. Drill holes in the back of the meter case for bolts to hold the cups.

Married

LEAGUE CYCLISTS IN MOUNTAIN RACE

Thirty-four professional riders recently took part in the annual round the mountain race. The weather was fine for the race, and good times were recorded.

Above: Gary Stratton, NP, has his cycle checked before the start of this tough test.

Above, right: First away were the two youngest competitors, P. Holmes and B. Turner, both of New Plymouth, and both just sixteen years old.

Right: The 30-minute bunch get under way. They are R. McAsey, Waitara, P. Smith, Timaru, G. Stratton and R. Wood, NP.

Below: Largest group in the race went off 19 minutes and were W. Ferguson and K. Ormiston, Timaru, J. Willcox, Christchurch, and B. Langman, K. Tapper and J. Wood, NP.

What is left of Ngamotu Beach was recently a blaze of colour for the opening of the New Plymouth Yacht Club's summer season. From now on the waters off the port will be alive with craft of all sizes and colours as they race under cloudless skies (we hope) for club honours. Above, left: Two senior members get their craft ready for the water. Above, right: P-class crew members were out in force on opening day. Below: The scene of the line-up for the opening races.

44 Years' Service in Fire Brigade

The chief fire officer at Waitara, Bill Terrill, has severed his connection through retirement, with the Waitara Fire Brigade, after an unbroken 44 years' service. Many very high tributes were paid to Bill for his service to the community, and the Waitara War Memorial Hall was filled to capacity for this occasion. Above, left: A presentation was made on behalf of the Fire Police by Hugh Taylor. Above, right: The new chief officer, Rex Limmer, presented, on behalf of the firemen a fine three piece suite. Here Bill and Mrs Terrill try it out. Below, left: Mrs Terrill receives a bouquet from Mrs Limmer. Below, right: Mr W.R. Johns, ex-chairman of the Waitara Fire Board also made a presentation.

Oakura's Antiques

The Oakura branch of the WDF recently asked their members to look up some of their heirlooms for an antique show. Little did the organisers realise that Oakura housewives were hoarding some priceless treasures. The show proved to be a complete success. Above: Some of the china was almost priceless. Below: Old watches and coins in this beautifully-made box caught the eye. Above, right: Cutlery of a bygone age. Right: Ornaments which were nearly 100 years old. Below, right: China like this would be of great value.

Where Was This Place?

This will get some of our readers thinking. We'll give you a clue. It is a photograph of a hotel, and was taken about 1860. Write to us if you know the answer--it will earn for the first correct answer a year's FREE subscription to "Photo News". Phoned entries NOT accepted...letters only please, to Box 427, New Plymouth. LAST MONTH'S WINNER: Winner of the "Where is it" picture in last month's "Photo News" was Mr Robin Parker, 16, Devon Street East, New Plymouth. We made that puzzle a little too easy...in all, over 500 people knew the right answer...the 2XP site. Did you get it?

GOOD CROWD SEE PROFESSIONAL SWIMMING COACH

Below: There was a very good crowd of about 300 people at the Kaweroa swimming pool to take advantage of the advice of professional swimming coach, Miss Donna de Varena, an Olympic Games gold medalist. Though the night was a little chilly much was learned from this very talented young lady.

LUCKY ESCAPE. The driver of this Mangorei Quarries truck had a miraculous escape from injury recently when his brakes failed coming down Junction Road with a full load of rocks for the new break-water works. He edged his runaway truck into the bank, where one of the boulders jumped his cab and another flew across the road. A fortunate time for the driver indeed!
