With this issue, "New Plymouth Photo News" becomes a fortnightly magazine instead of monthly.

The change has been made to satisfy the most consistent criticism we have had ever since the magazine was started—that the interval between issues is too long.

In the new, fortnightly "Photo News", to be published every second Friday, readers will find fresher, more timely picture-coverage of Taranaki news, once our new schedule has settled down and the printing time has been reduced to the minimum. The additional 28 pages of pictures per month will also enable us to give an even fuller coverage of the news.

Footnote: "Photo News" magazine production for March, 1959: 13,100 copies. For August, 1959: 25,600 copies.

Aftermath of Fatal Fire

Following the fatal fire at the Grosvenor on the morning of Sunday, August 9th, police and firemen make a thorough inspection, to ascertain the cause of the tragedy. Picture on right shows these officials in the still-smouldering ruins.

Below: With the collapse of the gutted building, debris was spread out onto the roadway. In this picture, the fire escape balcony complete with railing can be seen clearly.

Grosvenor Hotel Destroyed By Fire

In the early hours of Sunday, August 9, with 35 guests asleep, fire broke out in the popular Grosvenor Hotel. One of the staff, 23-year-old Joan Morris of Rahotu, lost her life in this very tragic fire. Receiving the alarm at 3 am, the New Plymouth Fire Brigade was quickly on the scene and did sterling work in saving the hotel's annexe, and adjoining buildings. The building was quickly reduced to a heap of rubble, as the flames gradually gained a firm hold.

Above: The remains of the hotel, photographed early in the morning.

Below: Firemen searching among the ruins, whilst the remains still smoulder.

THE LIONS IN TARANAKI

The visit of the British Isles touring Rugby team will long be remembered in Taranaki. The Lions were given a typical New Plymouth welcome, with Maori challenge, street procession, and all, which must have constituted one of the liveliest receptions of the tour.

For the game, 35,000 people packed into Rugby Park to see a very even contest in which the final score, 15 points to 3 for the Lions, flattered the visitors. The game was played in brilliantly fine weather.

Team watches challenge with interest

His credentials established, Mr Wilson gets a warm Maori welcome to Taranaki.

Top: Over 1000 people gathered round the team's hotel to give them a rousing welcome to the city.

Centre: The team looks down from their lofty perch.

Bottom right: Mr Wilson meets his wife's brother, Mr R.D. Bradley, of New Plymouth, for the first time for 21 years. They both came from Dollar, in Scotland.

Over 15,000 people watched a bright and breezy pre-match parade organised by the Ferdinand and Club before the big game.

Above: Ferdinand stands triumphantly before the match. He was slightly deflated by the time the game was over.

Below: The Y.M.C.A. gymnastic team gave an impressive display on a moving truck.

Mobile butchers with prime cuts

Ancient but patriotic vehicle.

Above: A pro-British float but it was given a good loud cheer.

Below: Bringing a note of glamour to the parade were these two bathing beauties perched on the New Plymouth Water Ski Club's float. They were highly popular--especially with the Lions.

Space age entry

Space men and girls... nice work if you can get it.

Taranaki special... ideal for going up steps.

Rugby in the machine age.

No, Sabrina was not in town!

It was a rip-roaring parade, full of variety, humour and noise, especially noise. Naturally it was mainly pro-Ferdinand and equally naturally the predominant colours were yellow and black. The huge crowd lining Devon Street entered into the spirit of the proceedings and the result was a 100 per cent success.

Skating Club's float supported Taranaki. But Taranaki went for a skate.

Actually he's a little horse this morning.

Ideal for dodging pedestrians.

Below right: The quick freeze float got a warm reception--especially when the packets were flying.

Lions Were Not Tamed By Ferdie

The Lions are just a memory now. But unfortunately they are not the bright memory that many of the record crowd of 35,000 at Rugby Park expected. Frankly they were disappointing. And so were Taranaki. Neither team played great Rugby despite the fact that this game could have been one of the classics of the tour. For the record the Lions won by 15 points to three but they were flattered by their winning margin. The Taranaki forwards hustled and bothered but the faster, heavier Lions were just too good.

Above: These two pictures were taken within a second of each other on Photo News' new automatic camera. On the left Roger Boon has the ball and his expression says he's going to go through. But Lions halfback Dickie Jeeps has other ideas and (right) he carries them out.

Centre right: A near thing...Waddell forces down just ahead of Ferdinand's men.

Bottom left: Rhys Williams takes the ball in a lineout and McLeod is also there.

Series Shots Show Rugby Drama

Our new automatic camera, which is capable of taking a series of pictures in quick succession, records here as no other camera could the rugged drama of first-class Rugby in action. Within the space of a second or two, these five pictures record what happened when the Lions' scrum half, Jeeps, was tackled by MacDonald (above), twisted out of MacDonald's hold (right), and broke clear only to run headlong into the Taranaki winger Eric Keith (below), leaving MacDonald lying on the ground. (Continued on next page).

Right: A wire netting fence kept the enthusiastic schoolboys off the field.

Below: The shouting and the tumult are over. A great crowd has left the field, and only the inevitable litter remains.

Toko Hall Gala

There was all the fun of the fair at the Toko Hall gala to raise funds for additions to the hall.

Below right: Sharpshooters on the darts board are Myra Bayly and Norma Cleland.

Below centre: Trevor Rowe forgot to eat his spinach that night.

Married

Bottom: BANKS—KINSELLA. At St. Joseph's Catholic Church, New Plymouth, Shirley Olive, youngest daughter of Mr and Mrs Norman Kinsella, New Plymouth, to David, youngest son of Mr and Mrs G. Banks, Leeds, Yorkshire, England. The bridesmaid was Yvonne Sheehan, New Plymouth, and the best man was Leslie Lewis, Hereford, England. The future home of the couple will be New Plymouth.

Plunket Fashion Show

The latest, the gayest, the brightest and the slickest in fashions were on show at the New Plymouth Plunket Society's fashion show recently. The parade was held just as the great fashion houses of Paris were holding their new season's shows and to a mere male the only big difference between the outfits of Paris and New Plymouth was the price.

Above: An audience gives a knowledgeable once-over to the snappy clothes on show.

Just the thing for cocktails.

Stratford Benedicts' Ball

There was all the grace and precision of expert dancing at the Stratford Benedicts' Ball. With all the dancing couples doing the same thing at the same time it was a grand spectacle.

Crowning the Queen

The pomp and pageantry of a coronation climaxed the Eltham Rugby Football Club's Queen Carnival, held to raise funds for the club's gymnasium.

Married

PALM---INT'VEEN: At St. Joseph's Catholic Church, New Plymouth, Rina, second daughter of Mr and Mrs H. Int'Veen, Pynacker (Holland), to Stefani, second son of Mr and Mrs Palm, Arnhem, Holland. Best man was Frits Van Hattum. The flower girl was Grazien Van Hattum and the page boy was Maarten Van Hattum. The couple will live in New Plymouth.

Big Day at Rugby Park

This fine aerial picture was taken as the two teams, Taranaki and the Lions, were taking the field. It shows the extensive alterations now being made to Rugby Park, on the left centre of the picture. A closer look at the photo will show that there wasn't a parking space to be had in any of the streets; cars were even parked in the Westown school grounds, immediately behind the park, and in every available driveway of every house.

Moturoa School Fancy Dress

Variety is the spice of life, they say. And there was plenty of it at the Moturoa School's fancy dress ball.

Above: Happy smiles from happy people, including the mouse on the end of the line. They are, from left: Lynda Caspersen, Julie Salisbury, Brian James, Raewyn James and John Grieve, behind the mask.

Below: Also having a high time at the ball, which was held in the Watersiders' Hall, we almost forgot to tell you, were, from left: Sally Murtagh, Vicki Cleave, Wayne Eriwheti and Johnnie Morgan.

Below right: Three slick chicks were Kerry Casperson, Diane Bilawski and Lesley Walker.

Boys' Brigade Drill Display

A high standard of efficiency was on show at the Boys' Brigade drill championships recently.

Above: The inspector, Mr R.C. Bebarfold, Wanganui, makes a detailed inspection of a smartly turned out group.

Below: Other boys and their officers wait their turn to perform.

Above: The 1st Rahotu Company is inspected. Inspector Mr R.C. Bebarfold has some trouble checking Lance Corporal David Lusk who is obviously high up in the brigade.

Right: The cap badge is all right despite the high altitude but the little character next door is dubious about it all.

Below: Nothing was missed in this inspection.

Wanganui's Challenge

Wanganui gave Taranaki a severe fright when they made a bold bid to lift the Ranfurly Shield at Rugby Park, New Plymouth. Taranaki, playing well below their best of last year, won by 17 points to 11.

Left: Captains Burke and Staines lead their men into the fray.

Below centre: Ross Brown over for Taranaki's only try.

Below: Give me that ball, demands Roger Urbahn. But the Wanganui forward sticks grimly to it. Ralph Carroll is on the extreme left, and Peter Burke is to the right of Urbahn.

Now then, what goes on here? Keith is up on a Wanganui player who has obviously surrendered.

Above right: Roy Carroll goes high and takes the ball from a Wanganui man. Number 14 is Roger Boon.
Above: It's a close call for Wanganui as Eric Keith is collared by opposite number.

Above: Need we say that Taranaki has scored?

Centre: Wanganui Captain Staines charges Taranaki halfback Urbahn as he gets a kick away.

Below: Something's wrong. Referee Scia-Scia (extreme right) blows his whistle as several players make a bid for the ball.

Harding, Wanganui. The bridesmaids were Jane Dixon, Nelson, Barbara Moore, Okato, Pam Crossman, Nelson, and Pam Jensen, Okato. Best man was Richmond Harding, Wanganui, and the groomsmen were Bill Harding, Wanganui, Henry Ching, Wanganui, and Dick Bruce, Waiouru. The couple will live at Wanganui.

Below: HINDMAN--PUTT: At St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, New Plymouth. Raema Belle, eldest daughter of Mr and Mrs G.E. Putt, New Plymouth, to John Derek James, eldest son of Mr and Mrs K. Hindman, "Majuba", Hunterville. Bridesmaids were Gwen Fraser, Geraldine Putt and Judith Hindman. Best man was Don Putt and groomsmen were Errol Hindman and Ron Scott. The future home of the couple will be Waitotara.

Matau School's Pioneer Flight

Pupils of the Matau School flew to Auckland recently for an educational tour and became what is believed to be the first organised school party to leave from the Bell Block Airport.

Above: The smiling pupils learn about the operation of a busy airport from the controller Phil Green.

Below: The school party with the headmaster Mr J.V.Head and Mrs Head and the crew of their aircraft. The children in the party were: Boys, N.Hundrup, D.Rolfe, C.Watkins, C.Devine, W.Rolfe, B.Devine, and O.Mills. Girls, B.Nuku, N.Kay, T.Rolfe, J.Dunne, J.Mill, V.Rawlinson, and V.Dunn.

Right: Excited children pose on their way up to the control tower.

Married

Below: AYSON--GODDERIDGE. At St.Mary's Anglican Church, New Plymouth, Phyllis Daphne, elder daughter of Mr and Mrs E.Godderidge, Urenui, to Alan Francis, younger son of the late Mr and Mrs F.Ayson, New Plymouth. Bridesmaids were Pam Marchant, Stratford, Valerie Wellington, Stratford, Claire Godderidge and Susan Jackson, both of Urenui. Wendy Ayson of Kaponga was the flower-girl. Jim Wiltshire, Wellington, was best man and groomsmen were Robert Godderidge. The future home of the couple will be Wellington.

Young Footballers Entertained

The Inglewood United Rugby Football Club, always noted for the attention it pays to its lower grade players, turned on a party recently for 9th, 10th and 11th grade players.

Above: After seeing this queue for supper we now know why Inglewood teams are always super-efficient in the scrums and rucks.

Below: Everybody is cheering on their team in a party game except the character in the centre. Looks like his team are like the racehorses we back—well back in the field all the way.

Quick Frozen Tender Chickens

In a New Plymouth factory--the only one of its kind in New Zealand---fowls go in one door full of pride and feathers and go out the other as tender, delicious quick-frozen poultry. The factory, Mr D.M.Urquhart's Fresha Frozen Foods, produces 45 varieties of quick-frozen meats, small goods and poultry. Last season the factory sent out nearly 25,000 birds from its 20-ton capacity quick-freeze chamber.

Above right: An impressive array of palate-tempting meat and poultry on trays in the blast tunnel where the products are frozen hard in half an hour. Because the freezing process is so quick the meat and poultry retain all their freshness and flavour.

Below: Talking about impressive arrays, this display of work made or collected by the North Taranaki section of the Junior Red Cross gives a good idea of the valuable work done by that voluntary organisation. Some of the items on display will go to the intellectually handicapped children, some will go to hospital patients and others will go to Algerian refugees. Examining the display is Miss A.J.Shelton, organiser for North Taranaki.

Fine Record

TARANAKI WOMEN UNBEATEN AT HOCKEY. Showing brilliant form this year, the Taranaki Women's Senior Hockey team have not had their colours lowered. They have had three convincing wins--the last one against Waikato they won 6-1. The pictures on this page were taken during that game.
